

Schoolgirl followed on way home

REPORTS of a youngster being followed outside a school are being investigated.

The young girl was walking home, down Chalkstone Way on Monday afternoon when she noticed someone behind her.

A police spokesman said: "Police were notified on Monday evening that a young girl had reported being followed in Haverhill at approximately 3.15pm.

"The girl noticed someone behind her in the area of Chalkstone Way and Alde Road, however she was unable to provide a description of the person.

"Police are aware there have been a couple of similar reports made to a local school and would urge that any suspicious behaviour is reported to the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team at Suffolk Police on 101."

Nicky Tyler, headteacher of Westfield Primary Academy, which is in the area said: "We are aware of reports about a girl being followed home at Chalkstone Way in the vicinity of Westfield Primary Academy.

"In response, as is the school policy, we have contacted parents notifying them of the incident and reminding them of the 'stranger danger' warnings – including not talking to strangers and keeping safe when out and about.

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

"Regular 'Stranger Danger' activities are carried out throughout the academy linked to the personal social health education curriculum."

In February two girls and two boys both reported being followed while on their way to school in two other incidents.

Two 12-year-old boys were approached on Tuesday, February 21 between 8.15am and 8.30am in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill.

The following day girls aged 13 were walking to school at 8am in Manor Road, when a man went up to them and started asking about their school.

Anyone with information about any of the incidents should call 101.

Five-year anniversary marked with fundraiser

MEETING THE STARS: Joshua and his mum with JLS. Below, Joshua with two of his brothers

@rach_mc94CN

SATURDAY will mark the five-year anniversary of the death of brave 16-year-old Joshua Tarrant, from Haverhill.

Joshua was diagnosed with three brain tumours at the age of just 8 and spent half his life battling his rare form of brain cancer.

In his memory Joshua's family, mum Denise, dad Sean and older brothers Ryan, Lee and Greg, have raised more than £33,000 in the past five years.

Joshua's mum Denise said: "It all started in May 2004, he kept just randomly being sick, we were backwards and forwards to the doctors, they said he was just stressed but when I took him to A&E one day the brain tumours were found pretty quickly.

"He had to have a life saving operation that night to fit a shunt because he had water on the brain.

"That saved his life that night, they planned chemo but that didn't budge it, so then as most families do we went on a big rollercoaster."

The prognosis for Joshua was poor and doctors told his family his condition was terminal until one radiographer offered a small glimmer of hope, the possibility of extending Joshua's life by a year.

Denise said: "A radiographer called saying he thought he could give him another year, that ended up being seven years."

Joshua's cancer was so rare that Denise says at the time only one in a million people every year were diagnosed with his type of cancer.

Joshua's extra time gave him the opportunity to enjoy his passions in life, art, music and like many eight-year-olds, Scooby Doo.

Through the Make A Wish Foundation Joshua and his family were able to travel to Scotland and meet the doggy detective.

"He did a lot in his short life, his life's ambition was to meet Scooby Doo which he did in 2005. He was live on stage and he met him back stage, it was a wonderful trip."

During his treatment Joshua also met his pop idols JLS, a trip to Disneyland Paris and sailing with Dame Ellen MacArthur.

After his death Joshua's brother, Ryan, organised the first of what has become an annual golf day to raise funds for charities and services which specifically benefit children with brain tumours.

In the first year alone, the golf day at Saffron Walden golf club, raised £5,098 for the East of Anglia children's hospital, where Joshua passed away and where his family spent the weeks before and after his death.

Denise said: "It really was a home from home. So even when he passed we were still there for a couple of weeks until his funeral. They were amazing."

The Joshua Tarrant Trust officially launched as a charity in January this year.

The trust will hold its first fundraiser at East Town Park in Haverhill in June.

COUNCIL

Councillors object to plan for new flats

CONCERNS over public health have led to Haverhill Town Council objecting to a plan for five new flats.

Councillors made the decision to object to the collection of one and two bedroom flats at a planning meeting on Monday.

The five flats would replace an existing building on Francis Close in Haverhill.

Cllr Quillon Fox said the plans were "a massive over-development of the site" and Cllr Barry Robbins commented that it appeared the developers had "cut an edge off one of the houses to get it into the boundaries".

The department for public health and housing in their comments on the application felt that the size of the kitchen, dining and living spaces were too small for the proposed number of people who might live in the four two-bed flats.

Worries about acceptable levels of car parking spaces and ability to access the parking were also brought up.

The council's official list of objections are: over-development of the site, inadequate parking provision, the access road not being suitable for intensification of vehicle movement and agreement with public health and housing recommendations that the kitchen and living areas within the flats are too small.

Explicit graffiti scrawled on car in week of vandalism

THREE thefts occurred in just one day in Haverhill last week and two cars were vandalised over two days.

One car had sexually explicit graffiti scrawled on both sides of it overnight between April 20 and April 21 while it was left on Burton End.

Another car had £1,000 of damage caused overnight on April 19 when all the panels of the Audi A3 were scratched while it was parked outside the victims home in Rowell Close in Haverhill.

During the late afternoon in Crowland Road in Haverhill a caravan was stolen by three men in daylight.

The Bailey Senator caravan was reported as stolen by a neighbour who said they saw three men take the caravan from his neighbour's house and attach it to a silver vehicle before leaving.

In Chapple Drive thieves broke into a home between 1.30pm and 3.20pm on April 20 and stole a large quantity of cash and jewellery.

Among the items stolen were a yellow metal ladies omega watch, foreign coins and an Antler suitcase.

Anyone who believes they may have information on any of the crimes or who witnessed them should call Suffolk Police on 101.

Queues prompt call for recycling centre move

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

A PETITION has been set up to move the site of Haverhill's recycling centre amid calls it is unfit for purpose.

Resident Nick Keeble has set up the petition on change.org, which has nearly 200 signatures, saying that at times cars can be stuck queuing outside the centre for up to 15 to 20 minutes at a time.

He said: "It's small for the amount of people who live in Haverhill,

"It used to be on the edge of town and the town now has grown around it."

Mr Keeble says that the access into and out of the site on Chalkstone Way has been restricted by people who live in homes around the site having no option but to park on the road.

"It's now a residential road, down there it's not very wide and residents park there, it's difficult to get to and you can only fit five cars in at a time."

The site is reportedly so well used that the centre has to be closed

DELAYS: Cars can be stuck in queues for up to 20 minutes claims petition organiser

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH ?? at cambridge-news.co.uk

while the skips are emptied, during the day, meaning queues stretch up the road.

Mr Keeble said: "If the skips are full they close the site and they can't have anyone there while changing them. I have sat in a queue for 15 to 20 minutes waiting to take my turn."

A Suffolk County Council spokesman said: "We are aware of the issues with the current site and the future increase in housing growth planned for the town and have begun to look at options for providing recycling services in Haverhill. We hope to be able to make a recommendation in due course."

Despite the problems Mr Keeble was quick to praise staff at the site as "excellent" and emphasised it was the location of the site that was the problem.

ELECTIONS

Voters ready to go to the polls

HAVERHILL is gearing up to go to the polls to vote in county council elections on May 4.

Currently the town is served by three UKIP councillors on the county council but two of the three, John Burns and Tony Brown, are stepping down from the council opening up at least two slots to completely new candidates.

Haverhill residents will pick their councillors in two divisions with two councillors coming from the Haverhill Cangle ward and one coming from the Haverhill East and Kedington Ward.

Incumbent UKIP county councillor Julian Flood is defending his position in Haverhill Cangle and alongside him are many familiar faces.

Three of the seven candidates for the division, Maureen Byrne for Labour and Conservative candidates Paula and Quillon Fox, are all current members of Haverhill town council.

@rach_mc94CN

In the Haverhill East and Kedington ward a new councillor will be elected with Tony Brown leaving, including more well known names like the current mayor David Roach.

In the past, Haverhill was a traditionally Labour town; 15 years ago the party held all 16 seats on the town council but in recent years the dynamics have changed.

Haverhill columnist David Hart commented on the election saying: "In parallel with what has happened in the north of England, Haverhill has lost quite a lot of the old-fashioned manufacturing bulk employers, and built a lot of private housing, so the balance has changed.

"Normally national issues don't impinge much in Haverhill.

"It's more about how the county, borough or town councillors have failed to achieve anything, and how Bury and Ipswich get everything and Haverhill nothing, allegedly.

"But this time Brexit and Corbyn may both have a small effect in upholding the move to the right.

"I would expect the Tories to do well this time, possibly at the expense of UKIP. Labour had a very bad election last time, so you might expect them to show an improvement, especially as they are now the outsiders and not really part of the current establishment – and they are quite good at getting their vote out."

HAVERHILL CANGLE

Standing for election in the Haverhill Cangle Ward for Suffolk County Council are:

Maureen Byrne - Labour

Lewis Curtis - Liberal Democrat

Julian Flood - UK Independence Party (UKIP)

Paula Fox - Conservative

Quillon Fox - Conservative

Ken Rolph - Liberal Democrat

David Smith - Labour

HAVERHILL EAST AND KEDINGTON

Candidates for the Haverhill East and Kedington ward for Suffolk County Council are:

Oliver Forder - Liberal Democrat

David Roach - Conservative

Jason Simpkin - Labour

Anthony Williams - UK Independence Party (UKIP)

New chief executive for academy trust decided

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

SAMUEL Ward Academy Trust has appointed a new chief executive.

Dr Tim Coulson will take over the role of managing the Trust's 15 schools in the summer.

Dr Coulson will leave his position as regional schools commissioner for east of England and north east London to take on the role.

He said: "I feel the trust is a model of what a multi-academy trust should be and will be in the future."

"I was attracted to the fact that the trust is based around four towns in close geographical proximity and has those communities at its heart."

"It is also very important for individual primary, secondary and special schools to retain their identity and this is something I want to foster and enhance."

Past chairman Howard Lay, who stepped down last summer but who will continue as a part-time director of quality assurance, said: "As a trust, we are delighted to have attracted such a highly regarded senior educationalist.

LEADER: Samuel Ward Academy Trust has a new chief executive, Dr Tim Coulson

"It is positive news for all our schools and students as well as across the whole of Suffolk."

"Tim will bring strong strategic direction to the Trust and help drive our innovative and forward-thinking approach to local education."

Dr Coulson continued: "Howard is clearly an impressive leader and a driving force for the trust and I am looking forward to continuing his excellent work and working with all the schools to provide the very best education we can for the children and young people we serve."

The trust runs schools across west Suffolk including in Haverhill, Newmarket, Sudbury and Bury St Edmunds.

Earlier this month, Samuel Ward Academy Trust was awarded £200,000 to become the first official Research School in the East of England and one of only 11 across the country.

Retail park set for handover in just a month

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION: Lidl is expected to open on the site in autumn

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

THE opening of Haverhill Retail Park is on course for this summer after developers announced they are set to hand over the building to retailers next month.

Colin Brown of the Howard Group, who are developing the former Project Office Furniture factory site, said building was going according to plan and the group will give the keys to retailers Pets at Home and Home Bargains in the third week in May.

A retailer for the third unit has not been found yet.

It is not yet clear when all the stores will officially open but Pets at Home are planning on opening doors to the public this summer.

A Pets at Home spokesperson said: "We already have stores in Newmarket and Sudbury offering our unique product range and customer service and have been looking to open a store in Haverhill for some time.

"We hope to bring the Pets at Home experience to Haverhill in the summer."

Initial plans for the retail park on Falconer Road were announced back in 2015.

Grocery giant Lidl will be the last store to open bringing with it 40 jobs when it opens in the autumn.

In total the £5 million retail park project is expected to create 110 jobs in Haverhill.

2017 report details

IN last week's News, a report on Page 2 said that Place Farm Primary Academy had been marked down in their 2017 Ofsted report for 'undemanding worksheets in maths and a lack of clear roles of team and subject leaders'.

These were in fact issues raised in the school's previous report in 2013 and were not relevant to the 2017 report.

In a report on page three regarding the LilyPads Nursery, it was identified as 'Burton End nursery school'. This should have read 'The nursery on Burton End'.

We are happy to clarify this point.

'Booby Walk' healthy boost

CANCER survivor Lorraine Smith is celebrating the success of the first ever 'Booby Walk' which she now hopes to make an annual event.

Twenty-seven of Lorraine's family and friends walked with her in a breast-shaped route around Bury St Edmunds to raise awareness and funds for West Suffolk Hospital.

Besides being on course to collect £1,700 for a machine which will help to detect cancerous lymph nodes, the event has helped raise Lorraine's spirits.

Lorraine said: "This has helped immensely. It's been so rewarding to do it. It's better than a lot of medicines and the best antidepressant is to be with other people."

PM's call for snap election gets my vote

IN his monthly column for Haverhill News, West Suffolk MP and Minister for Digital and Culture, Matthew Hancock, looks ahead to the general election and the Suffolk County Council elections

THIS last week has been busy in Westminster. I think the Prime Minister is absolutely right to hold a general election, to provide the strong and stable leadership Britain needs. I think the election will be all about leadership – and who we want to lead us in tough times. Even before the general election on June 8, on Thursday May 4, we will have the Suffolk County Council elections.

I have worked with the Conservative candidates, Robin Millar and Rachel Hood on a wide range of issues over many years while I have been MP for West Suffolk. I very much hope you will get out to vote on May 4 – our county councillors are our first port of call when there are local issues to address.

In Westminster, I have represented West Suffolk since 2010 and I am extremely proud of the achievements we have made during that time. It is a record of more jobs, more investment, falling levels of crime, and rising prosperity.

I am proud to be your representative and with the backing of the electorate, I hope to carry on doing the job I love and working hard to be the voice of my constituents in Parliament, supporting Theresa May to deliver strong leadership for Britain.

My campaign to return to Westminster as the MP for West Suffolk begins on Saturday. I am looking forward to taking to the streets to make the case for another Conservative government with a clear plan for Britain.

If you agree, please do vote for your Conservative candidate.

Or even better, you can get involved in this democratic process. I would love for you to be part of my campaign – do get in touch via my website. We need people with a bit of time and enthusiasm to knock on doors, deliver leaflets, and to put up posters.

Campaigning is great fun there is much work to be done before the general election on June 8. I hope I can count on your support over the coming weeks, and on election day.

CRIME

Alleged hacker appeal allowed

ALLEGED computer hacker Lauri Love has been given the go-ahead to challenge his extradition to the US.

Authorities in America have been fighting for Mr Love, who has Asperger's syndrome, to face trial on cyber-hacking charges, which his lawyers say could mean a sentence of up to 99 years in prison if he is found guilty.

The 32-year-old, who lives with his parents in Stradishall, is alleged to have stolen huge amounts of data from US agencies, including the Federal Reserve, the US Army, the Department of Defence, Nasa and the FBI in a spate of online attacks in 2012 and 2013.

His solicitors, Kaim Todner, announced in a statement on Tuesday that they had obtained permission for Mr Love to appeal against extradition.

Mr Love has previously said that he would rather end his own life than be subject to the

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

US justice system.

In March, he told the BBC: "If there are no other options and it is a choice between being subject to the US justice system and being turned into an example or deterrent or choosing to end my own life as an alternative, then I do reserve the right to do so."

He has previously said that he feared he would die in a US prison as it would be "very hard for me to imagine not being able to access information using computers".

Mr Love compared the loss of technology in his life to a condition that would limit his very existence, he said: "It would be like losing my sight if I was locked away from technology and only able to use a telephone to call my family once a week."

No date has yet been set for the challenge, which will be heard at the High Court in London.

His lawyer, Karen Todner, said in the statement: "The reason permission has been granted is that the High Court acknowledge that the grounds raised some issues of great importance."

"We are delighted for this news for Lauri and will continue to do everything we can to ensure prevention of his extradition to the United States of America."

Home Secretary Amber Rudd authorised his extradition to the US last year.

The Home Office said Ms Rudd had "carefully considered all relevant matters" before signing an order for his extradition.

Mr Love, who was first arrested at his home in 2013, said in March he would want to work with intelligence agencies to highlight "vulnerabilities" in their systems.

Rail cafe plans are on track

A VICTORIAN railway building is being brought back to life in Clare Country Park as a new cafe.

Platform One Cafe will open on Friday April 28 and is located in the original 1865 bookings hall of the railway station.

The planning and refurbishment process took a year after park trustees decided to bring the building back into use.

Kate Terry, a park trustee, said: "This particular part of the station building was unused. The trustees wanted to create a 'hub' for the park for all visitors to use, whether they were dog walkers, history enthusiasts or any of the other thousands of visitors that visit the park each year."

Richard Palmer, owner of the new cafe, and who also owns the Number One deli in the park, said: "We are very excited to have the opportunity to create a new cafe in our beautiful park and know that local families and visitors to Clare will enjoy the new facilities."

B&C Glass Ltd is a small, friendly and local business which has been operating since 1981 in Haverhill. In that time it has built a reputation unrivalled in the industry.

"We serve many large contractors and companies, but also supply the general public and trade," says office manager Pippa Ketteridge. "We're very versatile and can literally deal with any order involving glass that you could imagine."

"B&C Glass can help with the supply and fit of high quality uPVC windows, doors and conservatories, but also with any small order, ie. replacement picture frame glass window pane, or fridge shelf."

Other services available include the supply of greenhouse glass, glass shelving, furniture tops, toughened safety glass, mirrors, balustrading, well covers, single glazed glass, bevelled glass, leaded glass, coloured glass splash backs and double glazed unit replacements.

"At this time of year we see an increase in the number of misted double glazing units we replace as the warmer weather increases the appearance of condensation in failed units.

"Many people are unaware that there is no need to replace the whole window frame as it is only the glazing that needs replacing. We have often been able to make our customers considerable savings when explaining this".

B & C also repairs/replaces uPVC locks, handles and other window/door parts to avoid unnecessary full-frame replacement costs.

They also offer both a supply and-fit or a supply-only service. "We are always happy to offer advice and information to assist a customer if they would like to complete installations themselves."

With over 35 years of experience, we are able to pass on a wealth of glazing knowledge!"

All single glazing glass is kept in stock, available for immediate supply-only toughened glass requires a week for delivery.

B&C Glass also offers emergency call outs for repairs and boarding of shop fronts or homes in an emergency.

Contact Pippa or B&C Glass director, Gary Ellis to discuss your requirements today. You can find them at B&C Glass Ltd, Unit 5, Cherry Gardens, Helions Bumpstead Rd, Haverhill, Suffolk CB9 7AA.

On Thursday May 4th, voters in Haverhill and Kedington have the opportunity to elect the councillors that they wish to represent them on Suffolk County Council for the next four years.

Haverhill Town Councillor Maureen Byrne and David Smith are standing as Labour Party candidates in the Haverhill Cangle division, which represents residents in the North, South and East wards of the town, whilst Jason Simpkin is contesting Haverhill East and Kedington. You can vote for both Labour candidates in the Cangle division.

Maureen says, "We are the candidates that will raise concerns, and speak up for those residents who would otherwise find difficulty in doing so".

David, a long serving representative in the Communication Workers Union, says, "It is time that we put the people of Haverhill first. To do that we need strong characters that are willing to challenge the current regime. We will be that voice."

Labour aim to encourage voters to look at the track record of their local parties and see the huge effort Labour Councillors have already put in to improving Haverhill. Whether it be campaigning to reverse budget cuts, supporting local residents in receiving the help they need from local councils or flying the flag for our great town, the Haverhill Labour Group has always fought hard to ensure this is a well serviced, thriving community.

In keeping with the Suffolk Labour Group manifesto, Haverhill and Kedington Labour Party has promised to use some of the substantial reserves accrued:

- To reverse cuts to Fire services
- To work for the restoration of the prior 'brown bin' service
- To expose the damage to vulnerable residents from stringent cuts to community services.

- To improve transport connections for the area, including addressing the ongoing pothole problem.

- To continue to work locally with schools to ensure there is adequate planning for the future

- To continue to support the development of Youth facilities and a holistic approach to young people and their needs

- To tackle Child Poverty through a focus on employment, education and housing.

The local Labour Party is committed to working for all of Haverhill's residents. Your vote for Labour candidates on Suffolk County Council can deliver a better deal for all in our community.

Vote for your community - vote LABOUR.

Your Labour candidates for the County Council

Haverhill Cangle - you can vote for BOTH Labour candidates

Maureen Byrne

Maureen is a long-serving town and borough councillor. Her negotiating, mediation and counselling skills have resulted in positive results for those she has assisted in matters relating to housing, highways, education, employment, benefits appeals and domestic violence.

David Smith

David currently works at Sainsbury's in Haverhill after a long career in the Post Office, where he represented members of the Communication Workers Union and gained considerable experience in negotiating on members' behalf and leading campaigns.

Haverhill East & Kedington

Jason Simpkin

Jason is a lifelong resident of Haverhill who has run an IT business, volunteered for several community groups and is a member of Unite The Union. He is campaigning to boost the Market at the top end of the High Street to increase footfall there and help our local businesses to survive.

Social Justice and Equality For All

The Labour Party stands for fairer distribution of income and not cutting corporation tax for big companies, so that we can properly fund the NHS, social care and education. VAT on private school fees could pay for free school meals in primary schools.

Your Labour candidates for the County Council will work for you to achieve investment in:

- ❑ Education for our children & young people
- ❑ Social care
- ❑ Filling potholes in roads
- ❑ Fire & Rescue Service
- ❑ Free organic waste bin collections

Beers to a good week

 MYSTICAL: Eastern Angles' new show The Strange Undoing of Prudencia Hart is one of the key attractions

THIS week's highlight has to be the Haverhill Beer Weekend (Friday to Sunday).

Come and sample a great selection of beers ales and ciders courtesy of the Nethergate Brewery in Clare. Try something tasty from The Meat Wagon and listen to some acoustic musicians in the evenings. Food, music and beer all in one place, what could be better?

Venture across the wintry Scottish Borders for Eastern Angles' new show – The Strange Undoing of Prudencia Hart on Wednesday at 7.30pm. It's part live folk-gig, part folk tale, part barn-storming comedy. Follow Prudencia – an academic on her way to attend a conference in Kelso. As snow starts to fall, she begins a mystical adventure of self-discovery. The strange and beautiful Scottish tale is told by four mischievous storytellers. Sometimes they speak in rhyming verse, sometimes through traditional folk songs, which will set your toes tapping and your heart racing! Please note this production contains some strong language and strobe lighting.

On Thursday Frank Ifield, the first artist to have three consecutive number one hits – I Remember

You, Lovesick Blues and The Wayward Wind – looks back at his lengthy musical career. He will be accompanied by some of his showbiz friends, will sing some of the old favourites, share his memories and maybe even treat the audience to a yodel or two.

Andy Fairweather Low rose to prominence in the 1960s as heart-throb and guitarist for chart topping band Amen Corner. His vocals and distinctive voice were the perfect lead for the group with hits such as Bend me, Shape Me (If Paradise is) Half As Nice and Hello Susie. He is at the Arts Centre with his band

The Low Riders on Saturday May 6 at 8pm.

Daniel Radcliffe stars in Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead in the National Theatre (recorded) broadcast of Tom Stoppard's play on May 7. Expect witty wordplay from Hamlet's school-mates in this new production that has received much critical acclaim. There's more drama from the National Theatre with Obsession starring Jude Law in the stage version of Luchino Visconti's 1943 film. Jude is Gino the handsome drifter who all too quickly, meets Giovanna and her husband, falls for Giovanna and then devises a plot to kill the husband. Gino is not one to let the grass grow under his feet, is he? This live broadcast will be screened on Thursday May 11.

Films for the near future include Fences (12A) and The Time of Their Lives (12A). Fences, Tuesday 2 May, is set in 1950s Pittsburgh and is billed as a hard family drama about secrets and buried emotions but with wit and warmth, it stars Denzil Washington and Viola Davis. Joan Collins and Pauline Collins join forces for The Time of Their Lives, Monday May 8 at 1.30pm and Friday May 12 at 7.30pm.

Check tyres on vehicles coming out of storage

AS THE warmer weather approaches, caravans, classic cars, horseboxes, motorhomes and other vehicles will be coming out of winter storage for the first time this year.

TyreSafe, the UK's tyre safety charity, is reminding owners to carry out tyre checks before hitting the road for the summer. Essential tyre checks:

■ Overall condition: Give all tyres a thorough visual inspection. Remove visible stones and other objects from the tread. Cracks in the sidewall may mean the tyres are beginning to deteriorate and should be checked by a professional along with any cuts, cracks or bulges which could signify internal damage.

■ Air pressures: Specific vehicle pressures can be found in the owner's manual or use TyreSafe's car and caravan tyre pressure calculators on www.tyresafe.org.

■ Tread depth: This should be above the legal minimum of 1.6mm across the central ¾ of each tyre's width and its entire circumference. Use the outer rim of a 20p as a guide to how close a vehicle's tyres are to this limit.

Countryman is biggest Mini yet – in more ways than one

OVER the past few years the Mini has grown out of all recognition and the latest John Cooper Works Countryman is the biggest yet, in more ways than one.

The latest five-seat Mini is taller, wider and longer than before and also boasts the most powerful engine ever which means it can now sprint from 0-62mph in 6.5 seconds either with the standard six-speed manual gearbox or the optional eight-speed Steptronic sports transmission.

The 2.0-litre 4-cylinder engine has performance characteristics inspired by motor racing and has a maximum torque of 350Nm on stream at between 1,450 and 4,500 rpm. It delivers its peak output of 231bhp.

With a power increase of 13bhp compared to its predecessor, the new Countryman is 19 centimetres longer, three centimetres wider and has a wheelbase extension of 7.5 centimetres offering more space across its five passenger seats.

The luggage compartment can also be expanded from 450 litres to 1,390 litres.

With the standard manual transmission, the Countryman has a combined fuel consumption of 38.2 mpg and a CO2 emissions level of 169g/km. The Steptronic version is rated at 40.9 mpg and 158g/km.

GROWING: The Countryman is taking the Mini to new heights

The Countryman has a starting price of £30,675 and the Steptronic model is priced from £32,275.

Standard equipment includes LED headlamps with cornering function and daylight driving lights, cruise control with brake function and the 6.5-inch colour display includes sat nav and full connectivity. Mini driving modes and rear park distance control are also offered as standard.

Exhibition charts 50 years of Range Rover

LAND Rover has opened a time-travelling exhibition to mark the 50th birthday of the car which gave birth to the SUV – the Range Rover.

Prototypes of the car, which went on to spawn scores of imitators and culminated in huge demand for SUVs in all their shapes and forms, were first developed in 1967.

To mark the occasion Land Rover has opened 'The Range Rover Story' – a visitor attraction at the heart of its Solihull factory charting the Range Rover's birth, development and evolution.

The interactive exhibition is expected to attract up to 45,000 visitors over the next three years. It follows on from a similar attraction celebrating the history of the iconic Land Rover Defender, production of which came to an end in Solihull last year after almost 70 years.

The prevailing theme of the new exhibition is Velar – with the name being crucial at the dawn of the Range Rover and again in the 21st century.

The 1967 Range Rover prototypes were codenamed Velar – meaning to veil or cover – a fine example of industrial subterfuge to conceal what the company was really up to.

Special Velar badges were even created for the prototype vehicles to put any would-be spies off the scent.

Now things have come full circle with the Velar name revived for Land Rover's newest vehicle – the stunning Range Rover Velar – which is already rolling off the Lode Lane production line.

HISTORY: The new Range Rover exhibition features a restored original model

The brief to develop the Range Rover came in response to American demand for a vehicle with the capabilities of a Land Rover but with more creature comforts.

Ironically, although Range Rover production proper started in 1970 the car wasn't sold in the US until 1987.

Initially the Range Rover was not the luxury SUV it has come to be, though the choice of coil rather than leaf springs gave it a suspension system that was far more comfortable on-road than the more agricultural Land Rover.

It also benefited from an aluminium V8 engine the Rover Car Company conveniently acquired at the time.

Roger Crathorne, who started working as a technical assistant on the Velar team in 1967 and helped create the exhibition, revealed how the project came to fruition very quickly.

"We came up with a fictitious company called Velar," said Roger, who went on to work for the company for more than 50 years and is generally known as 'Mr Land Rover'.

"We put this vehicle into production with only seven prototypes.

"We were forced to launch the vehicle earlier than we had planned because of a promise Lord Stokes, the then British Leyland chairman, had made to the Government on launching new cars."

Now renowned as the ultimate luxury SUV, Roger revealed that was not the original intention.

"It was not originally intended as a luxury vehicle but an extension of the Land Rover range offering better on-road dynamics," he added.

"It wasn't until '72/'73 it started to become more of a luxury vehicle. We did more and more over time and it has become the wonderful luxury vehicle we drive today."

The Range Rover Story exhibition starts with visitors looking at giant images capturing life in 1967 and the musical sounds of the era.

They then move into a number of different rooms, the first of which features a cutaway of an early model detailing elements of its engineering.

Next up is a mock-up of the original design studio with a full-size replica of the original Range Rover clay model, lovingly created by the current Land Rover design team in Gaydon.

There are also original sketches created back in the 1960s.

There's also a wonderfully restored original model in absolutely pristine condition, a room which celebrates famous Range Rover partnerships with the likes of the magazine Vogue, the gun maker Holland & Holland and even the Royal Family.

The attraction also looks at how the Range Rover evolved and how the model range expanded. It culminates in a dramatic unveiling of the Range Rover Velar, Land Rover's newest vehicle which sits between the Evoque and the Range Rover Sport models.

Motor show unveils exciting new stars

THE Confused.com London Motor Show 2017 is set to hand UK debuts to the most exciting new models around and also host a world debut when the industry's eyes turn to Battersea Evolution next month.

After a hugely successful opening year in 2016, The Confused.com London Motor Show has been billed as one of the hottest events on the automotive calendar, and it has the stars in its armoury to live up to the hype.

From May 4-7, more than 130 new cars will descend on London – including one making its bow. British coachbuilder David Brown Automotive's latest creation – the Mini Remastered – will make its world debut at The Confused.com London Motor Show.

The exclusive Mini Remastered is based on a classic Mini and is reborn into a city car for modern living. It boasts a reconditioned 1,275cc 78bhp engine and a four-speed gearbox, while the chassis and body panels are de-seamed to provide perfect shutlines.

Alpine's eagerly anticipated A110 will make its UK debut.

Information on The Confused.com London Motor Show displays and tickets at www.thelondonmotorshow.co.uk.

The dreaded fear of parallel parking

ONE in three (32 per cent) motorists try to avoid completing driving manoeuvres for fear of getting them wrong, according to new research from Kwik-Fit. Parallel parking tops the list of most commonly avoided manoeuvres with 30 per cent of drivers admitting to giving it a miss whenever possible.

The study, commissioned by the UK's leading automotive servicing and repair company, found that motorists' fear of putting their car through various manoeuvres peaks during their driving test but often never entirely leaves them even after many years of experience.

London-based motorists were the most likely to lose sleep over driving test manoeuvres, with three quarters admitting to fearing at least one manoeuvre ahead of their driving test. Motorists in Yorkshire and Humberside and the East of England (62 per cent) were the least affected by the prospect.

Vauxhall's Grand unveiling

THIS is the first sight of Vauxhall's all-new Grandland X SUV, the third member of its 'X' family, which will make its public debut at the Frankfurt Motor Show in September and go on sale early next year.

It comes with a sporty design and off-road looks and has elevated seating for five people, generous luggage space, good all-round visibility and a raft of safety technologies.

At 4.48 metres long, it will be the largest SUV in Vauxhall's range, offering even more cabin space than the existing Mokka X and Crossland X.

The Grandland X will come with a selection of driving assistance and comfort features including adaptive cruise control with pedestrian detection, automatic emergency braking, driver drowsiness alert and advanced park assist.

Inside it will feature premium ergonomic front seats, heated steering wheel, heated front and rear seats and smart tailgate that opens with a kick.

Grandland X drivers will have the use of the latest generation of IntelliLink systems and the personal connectivity and service assistant Vauxhall OnStar, which now includes new services such as hotel booking and parking space search.

Smartphones can be integrated to the infotainment system and charged wirelessly via inductive charging on handsets with this function.

Vauxhall says the new SUV will be able to provide safe driving fun on every surface, thanks to the optional electronic grip control that ensures traction in diverse driving situations.

The driver has a choice of five driving modes, for each one the system adapts the torque distribution to the front wheels, allows wheel-spin if necessary, and, with the automatic transmission, adjusts shift points as well as throttle response. This ensures traction and stable handling regardless of the road surface.

With its long wheelbase of 2,675mm it will offer plenty of space for up to five people while the boot (with a load volume from 514 litres to a maximum of 1,652 litres) offering plenty room for luggage and sport equipment.

Prices and performance details are still to be announced.

'Satisfied' Sims fired up for the Nurburgring by qualifying hints

ALEXANDER Sims produced a top-10 finish in the qualifying race for the Nurburgring 24 Hours.

Sims and co-drivers Philipp Eng, Maxime Martin and Marc Basseng finished sixth at the weekend in their Rowe Racing BMW M6 GT3 after an impressive display on the Nordschleife.

The quartet were the best-placed BMW at the event, which was won by Audi, who had less than a minute's advantage after six hours of racing.

A dress rehearsal for the main 24-hour race which takes place on May 27, the qualifying race was closely-contested and means there should be plenty of excitement in the Eifel next month.

"Sixth place is a solid result," said West Wrattling driver Sims.

"We learned a few things during the race that will help us with the 24-hour race.

"The tyres seemed to start working a bit better during the race, which was the main difference to qualifying and why our racing speed was better.

"All in all, I'm satisfied with the qualification race."

Saffron Walden's Tom Blomqvist was also behind the wheel of a BMW M6 GT3, sharing the car with Team Schitzer team-mates Marco Wittmann and Martin Tomczyk.

They finished 12th.

Relief for Rovers!

HAVERHILL Rovers made certain of their status in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division with a 2-2 draw at home to Gorleston.

Gorleston went into the game on the back of five successive away defeats, and Rovers took advantage of their travel sickness when they opened the scoring through Jonathan Milne in the 37th minute.

In a match of few chances at either end, it was not until the 80th minute when the hosts added their second to make it 2-0.

Substitute Rory Jebb and Jordan Palmer played a succession of one-tuos before Jebb headed the ball past the Gorleston keeper and into the net.

Gorleston gave themselves hope four minutes from time when Rovers keeper James Philp misjudged a looping, deflected shot and missed the ball, allowing a visiting player to score with a simple finish.

And although Rovers substitute Adam Sartini blocked a close-range header a minute later, Gorleston grabbed the equaliser in stoppage time.

A deep free kick was played into the penalty area and a Gorleston player was left unmarked to score from close range.

Phillips leveller seals a point for 10-man Boro

HAVERHILL Borough ended their Thurlow Nunn League promotion-winning campaign with a 1-1 draw at Whitton United.

Boro made a bright start with chances for Rory Bone and Ryan Phillips, but it was Whitton who took the lead in the First Division clash.

Visitors Boro were always dangerous, though, and player-manager Martin Westcott went close with a header that was well saved by the Whitton keeper.

Boro continued to press in the second half and they were rewarded for their efforts in the 54th minute when Casey Phillips headed home the equaliser from Craig Pruden's cross.

Boro's Luke

Clarke was sent off 10 minutes from time, but Whitton were also reduced to 10 men when one of their players was shown a red card just a minute later.

Bone went close to grabbing a winner in the dying moments but the match finished at 1-1 and Boro now look forward to life in the Premier Division.
